Honeymoons: Mr . Mrs. Smith

Little Black Book.

We are just starting to think about honeymoon options and really don't know where to begin...

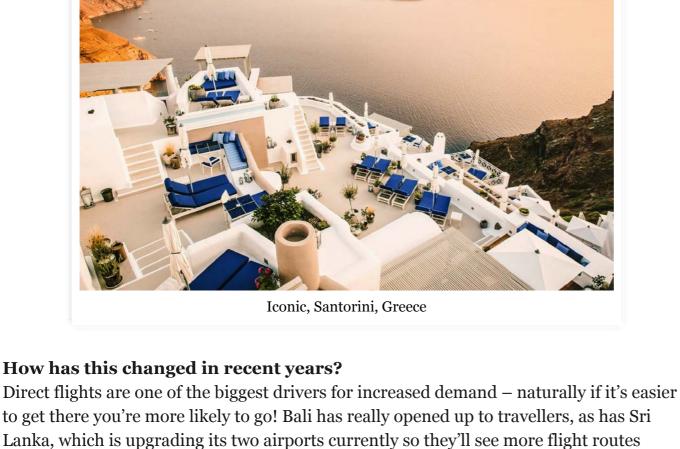

Boutique hotel experts Mr & Mrs Smith know the importance of a romantic retreat so I asked their honeymoon expert Claire Wilson for the latest honeymoon trends and the inside scoop on a stylish stay...

islands with the most stunning sunset views. Iconic opened earlier this year and still has availability for this summer, so that's my insider tip! The Amalfi coast is the ultimate Italian escape for a honeymoon, too; I love Capo la Gala and Maison la Minervetta for their quirky design, ocean views and, of course, wonderful food.

added within the next couple of years.

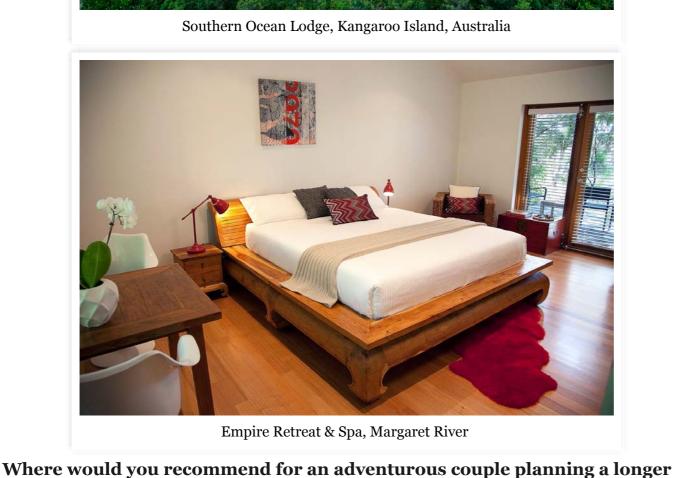

in beautiful beachside locations.

What are the hidden gems that people might overlook when planning a honeymoon? Greece has about 200 inhabited islands (and hundreds more that are uninhabited) so I think there's an enormous amount of exploring to do there. Getting around by ferry is incredibly easy – Poseidonion Grand Hotel on Spetses and the Anemi Hotel on Folegandros are perfect honeymoon hotspots. They're both completely unique and chic,

Sri Lanka is a great option and it's good value – it has the ideal mix of culture and beach. I'd recommend starting in Colombo, heading to Kandy and the hill country to explore the tea trails, and then, if you want to have a treat and can splash out at the end of your trip, honeymoon (say two to three weeks) on a tighter budget?

the Maldives is hard to beat, somewhere like Cocoa Island by Como.

Cocoa Island by COMO, Maldives

Do people tend to go for one week or longer? What other trends are you noticing?

Maison La Minervetta, Italy

For me, Bali, because I can't get enough of its variety and beautiful views, there is just so

I'd probably say France, and specifically Hotel Crillon le Brave in Provence for its perfect

VIP benefits (including free upgrades and extras at every hotel). Can't wait? Give Claire or another of Smith's honeymoon experts a call on 0330 100 3180.
